Dear parish family,

5th Sunday Lent C

There is so much hatred, anger, and vindictiveness that molest our world. People easy to condemn and blame others and yet are unmindful of the wrongs they do. Sometimes we are the victims, but at times we are the victimizer. Until we yield to the grace of God and break the cycle of evil, human misery continues.

This Sunday's gospel passage describes human misery that meets divine mercy for us. It tells about the Pharisees with their ugly double intention - to condemn the woman to death caught in adultery and then trap Jesus to contradict himself so they could bring a charge against him. The Pharisees thought they had the power of the "law" to justify condemnation that brings death, but Jesus counters with a higher law of love that brings life. They thought it was evident that they would win their ugly scheme, but Jesus didn't play their game.

Our Lord destroyed the urge of the Pharisees to condemn by his power to understand and forgive. The Lord destroyed their evil intentions by his desire for them to do the good thing. The Lord countered their purpose to destroy the woman forever by giving her another chance to renew her life.

Written on our fallen human nature is this inclination to evil that makes us weak. There are two ways of looking at this reality: to be a pessimist and yield to our base animal instincts. Or be optimistic about life, break the vicious cycle, and be uplifted to a superior level of grace.

In our first reading, the prophet Isaiah wanted to change the negative outlook of his people and urged them to be optimistic about the future. One verse says, "Remember not the things of the past ... See, I will make things new." In the second reading, St Paul says, "I give no thought on what lies behind but push on what lies ahead. My main attention is on the finish line as I ran towards the prize to which God calls me - life on high on Christ Jesus."

A Christian should not be spending his whole life looking backward, but rather someone courageous who looks toward the future with enthusiasm and confidence. We are asked to share the Lord's view, not condemn but to commend ourselves and others to "go and sin no more."

When we encounter, from time to time, people who are only looking for the ugly side of life, the gospel challenges us to counter them with the same attitude of Christ. We praise God for being so optimistic about us even if we failed many times. He is asking us also to be about ourselves and with others.

This Sunday's readings are clamor for a "heads up" for the eventual grace of transformation in church life and our individual lives accomplished in the Passion, Death, & Resurrection of Christ. As a community & individually, God can transform us by our cooperation to His redemptive plan in our lives.

Blessings to all, and have a good week.

Fr. Tony

Querida familia parroquial,

5to Domingo de Cuaresma C

Hay tanto odio, ira y venganza que molestan e importunan a nuestro mundo.

Las personas son fáciles de condenar y culpar a los demás y, sin embargo, no se preocupan por los errores que cometen. A veces somos las víctimas, pero a veces somos los victimarios. Hasta que nos rindamos a la gracia de Dios y rompamos el ciclo del mal, la miseria humana continúa.

El pasaje evangélico de este domingo describe la miseria humana que se encuentra con la misericordia divina por nosotros. Habla de los fariseos con su fea doble intención: condenar a muerte a la mujer sorprendida en adulterio y luego atrapar a Jesús para que se contradiga a sí mismo y puedan acusarlo. Los fariseos pensaban que tenían el poder de la "ley" para justificar la condenación que trae muerte, pero Jesús responde con una ley superior de amor que trae vida. Pensaron que era evidente que ganarían con su feo esquema, pero Jesús no jugó su juego.

Nuestro Señor destruyó el impulso de los fariseos de condenar por su poder de comprender y perdonar. El Señor destruyó sus malas intenciones por su deseo de que hicieran el bien. El Señor contrarrestó su propósito de destruir a la mujer para siempre dándole otra oportunidad de renovar su vida.

Escrita en nuestra naturaleza humana caída está esa inclinación al mal que nos hace débiles. Hay dos formas de mirar esta realidad: ser pesimista y ceder a nuestros bajos instintos animales. O sea optimista acerca de la vida, rompa el círculo vicioso y elévese a un nivel superior de gracia.

En nuestra primera lectura, el profeta Isaías quiso cambiar la perspectiva negativa de su pueblo y los instó a ser optimistas sobre el futuro. Un versículo dice: "No os acordéis de las cosas pasadas... Mirad, haré nuevas". En la segunda lectura, San Pablo dice: "No pienso en lo que queda atrás, sino que empujo lo que está delante. Mi atención principal está en la línea de meta mientras corría hacia el premio al que Dios me llama: la vida en lo alto de Cristo". Jesús."

Un cristiano no debe pasarse toda la vida mirando hacia atrás, sino alguien valiente que mira al futuro con ilusión y confianza. Se nos pide que compartamos el punto de vista del Señor, no condenarnos sino encomendarnos a nosotros mismos ya los demás a "ir y no pecar más".

Cuando nos encontramos, de vez en cuando, con personas que solo buscan el lado feo de la vida, el evangelio nos desafía a contrarrestarlas con la misma actitud de Cristo. Alabamos a Dios por ser tan optimista acerca de nosotros, incluso si fallamos muchas veces. Él nos está pidiendo que también tengamos esa actitud acerca de nosotros mismos y con los demás.

Las lecturas de este domingo claman por un "aviso" para la eventual gracia de transformación en la vida de la iglesia y nuestras vidas individuales logradas en la Pasión, Muerte y Resurrección de Cristo. Como comunidad e individualmente, Dios puede transformarnos con nuestra cooperación a Su plan redentor en nuestras vidas.

Bendiciones a todos, y que tengan una buena semana.

Fr. Tony
